PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.

VILLAINY.

The Mayor's Court of this city adjourned on Wednesday last, after a session of sixteen days. During the session two hundred and eight bills were presented to the Grand Jury, of which one hundred and eighty nine were returned true bills.

Among other interesting cases was an indictment against.—— Miller, for a misdemeanour, in seducing a free negro from the city, and selling him as a slave in the state of Delaware. The case was attended with circumstances of peculiar aggravation. The negro was engaged by the defendant and another person, who had absconded, to work on board a shallop, trading down the river, under the pretence of gatnering peaches for the market. When she arrived in one of the small creeks, or inlets of the bay, he was seized, tied, and sold for the sum of 350 dollars, which was paid in his presence. The negro was delivered to the purchaser, who kept him secured by means of a chain fastened round his legs, affixed to a staple, for several days, for the purpose it is suspected, of selling him to some of the Georgia dealers; fortunately for the poor fellow, he was enabled to escape by forcing one of the links of the chain. His master, from intoxication, being unable to pursue him, he effected his escape.

The murder of a slave was for a long time, under the laws of some of our sister states considered as a misdemeanour—an offence which might be commuted for a sum of money. To the honour of the Legislature of the states where such laws did exist, they have been repealed; while under the boasted penal laws of Pennsylvania, it is at this day a greater offence to steal a chattel above the value of 20 shillings than to steal a human being and devote a fellow creature to perpetual slavery and misery. The punishment in the former case cannot exceed one year's imprisonment at hard labor, while in the latter it may extend to three years!!

It is sincerely hoped that the subject will attract the notice of the friends of humanity, and particulary of the Abolition Society.—T. Am.

SERIOUS DISPUTE.

The dispute between the two following named gentlemen may be summed up in a few words: they were opponents to each other at the late election for Congress in the Loudon District. Col. MERCER, the federal candidate, was elected by a small majority. Gen. MASON, believing that the result was owing to illegal votes given to Col. M. announced his determination to contest the election. This led to a paper war between the two candidates, which was continued with increasing warmth until it reached the climax which we have alluded to, and which was consummated in the Leesburg papers. Of the merits of the dispute we shall say nothing: Our wishes were for the success of Gen. MASON, but we had rather have had them disappointed than that matters should have been carried to such deplorable lengths.

To the people of Loudon.

"The closing paragraph of my answer to the first address of Mr. Mason, the application of which is now sanctioned by his own acknowledgement, leaves me nothing further to add, in reply to his second, than that I cannot forfeit my claim to the character of a gentleman, by retorting upon him the language of a blackguard and a bully.

C. F. MERCER."

TO THE PUBLIC.

If Mr. Mercer intends, in the last Washingtonian, to apply the terms, "blackguard and bully" to me, I cannot hesitate to pronounce him to be an infamous liar and scoundrel!

ARMISTEAD T. MASON.

A HINT TO PARENTS.

Within a few weeks I have been a little amused in several families, observing the expressions mothers use when addressing their small children. It is strange that some parents, even those that are wealthy and aspiring to style, instead of endeavoring to inculcate in the infant minds of their offispring, a correct manner of speech, will use an incoherent gabble—a transformation of language, that an Indian Philosopher could not interpret. The consequence is, their children, being disposed to learn the first words they hear, imbibe a disgraceful manner of articulation, which very often lasts through life. Says a mother the other day to her child when crying' "what den is de matte wid de poor little sing; come long, blesh its little shoul and hab some titte." At another time. "Wake up mudder little babe ye sept so yong, dont cy mudder guot it," &c. It were well if parents would recollect the importance of making the first speech of their children, the language of correctness this can only be effected by speaking distinctly, and causing the nurse to do likewise.

A FRIEND TO CHILDREN.

Foreign.

AUSTRIA, Aug. 20.

CZERNY GEORGE, who a short time since made a journey into Russia, and who is now beheaded, was born about the year 1770, not far from Belgrade, and was celebrated by the long continued struggles he maintained to free his country, Servia from the Turkish government. He was of a tall figure, but thin, and wore a queue which covered his whole back. He differed in his appearance from a common Servian peasant in no respect, but he always wore a dagger and pistols. His violent cruel and passionate temper early displayed itself, and hatred to the Turks was as it were born with him. When quite young he met a Turk in the street, who spoke to him in an imperious manner, bidding him get out of the way or he would shoot him; Czerny stopped before the Turk and stretched him dead on the ground. After this he fled into Transylvania, then scarcely 18 years old, and soon became an under officer in the Austrian service. He did not however remain here long, but returned back in disgust to his native country, where he headed a troop of Robbers, which he stationed in the thickest forests, from whence he attacked the Turks and was the conquerer in several skirmishes. On such occasions, his rage spared neither the old men, women or children of this nation. In revenge, the Turks condemned to death 26 Servians, and collected an army to attack Czerny's band, But the oppressed Servians gathered from all sides to join Czerny.—His own father renounced him, and was on his way to Belgrade to deliver his son into the hands of the Turks. The son used in vain all means to keep back the old man, and at last shot him with a pistol. For this unnatural action he received the name of CZERNY, which means black.

It would be impossible to draw a picture of the cruelty of his life. We will however add that he suffered his own brother to be hung for some slight offence. Though he was entirely destitute of education, knowing neither how to read or write, it cannot be denied that he had some gifts; but he had a great knowledge of the manner of conducting troops and especially of animating them in the time of action.

Colossal Statue of Bonaparte.—The Prince Regent has presented to the Duke of Wellington the colossal statue of Bonaparte which was lately sent from France to His Royal Highness. This statue was executed by the celebrated sculptor Canova, & intended to adorn some of the public works in progress in Paris, when the Ex-Emperor was driven from his throne. The Roman sculptor had been particularly patronised by the Napoleon Family; and, it is said used the greatest exertions to make the work worthy of his own and his patron's fame. The statue, after the pure taste of the antique, is but slightly draperied, and is intended to convey an expression of great dignity and modesty. The attempt is said to have been too daring for the sculptor, who excels beyond any other living artist in the expression of delicate touches and poetical beauty, but who is thought to have been unsuccessful in this arduous flight to rival the most exalted glories of Grecian art. The work was not liked in Paris, and was hardly unpacked; it was even the subject of sharp criticism in Rome at the time of its execution. It has been removed to Apsley-house, Hyde-park-corner, the residence of the Duke of Wellington.

From French papers, received at the office of the Boston Daily Advertiser.

The Bremen Gazette publishes the following extract from a letter of M. Langsdorf the consul from the court of Russia dated Rio Janerio, June 30th:

"In the month of December of the last year, I made a little journey into the interior of this remarkable country, and visited principally the province of Minas Gracs where we found the pretended gold mines, I say pretended because in fact there is none in this place, but the country is in a manner covered with gold dust more or less fine. I have seen little districts where a man had drawn from this dust in the space of twenty years sufficient for three millions of Crusades, at the same time this province notwithstanding all its riches, its gold and its diamonds is one of the poorest I have ever seen. Every body is employed in seeking and washing the earth which contains the gold, and agriculture is totally neglected on the best soil, and under the finest sky in the world."

"These men have frequently much gold and nothing to eat; provisions of all kinds are brought from a great distance to these rich cities and villages, and if the transportation of these should be retarded but for a week, these new Midases would be starved."

"A man can very easily in an hour by washing the earth obtain a quantity of gold of the value of one or two Seerins, and as this sum is sufficient for his support for one or two days, it would be impossible to persuade him to work any longer."

"I have never been to the district where diamonds are procured, not having had time for so long an excursion. As their is no mines, properly speaking, my collection of minerals is very inconsiderable. In such a journey nothing can be procured but what is found on the surface of the earth."

"Besides the gold, there is found here, more iron than any where else. There are no common mines of this metal, but there are in many places large massive mountains formed of magnetick iron of the best quality, which on 100 pounds of the mineral, will give from 80 to 90 of the metal. Nothing can be more astonishing than these enormous masses of iron. Some the highest mountains of Minas Gracs, are entirely formed of them. I have employed three months in this journey; and I have especially admired the richness of the vegetation and rare plants of this country; the Melostomes, the Rubiacees and the Malvacee flourish here in the greatest beauty. The high mountains of Carassa and Piedas, which are elevated at least 7000 feet above the level of the sea, have furnished me with an abundant botanical harvest, especially in Alpine plants. My observations and zoological collections have not been so rich though, I had chosen the summer for my researches. I now think the spring is the more favourable and offers a greater abundance of objects?

THE SOLDIER WITHOUT HANDS.

From Sir Richard Phillip's Morning's Walk from London to Kew.

I accosted a young man, who had lost both arms, and was walking pensively between the trees. After some expressions of heart-felt commiseration, I inquired by what mischance he had met with so untoward a wound. He told me he was in the act of loading his musket, when a cannon ball, passing before him, carried off one arm above the elbow, and so shattered the other, that it was necessary to amputate it. He then named some paltry battle where this accident befel him; the issue of which to either of the contending parties was, as I recollected, not worth the joint of a little finger, even if the entire object of the campaign, or war, was worth so much! But said I, you are of course well provided for in the hospital. "No, (he replied,) there is not room for me at present: out, owing to the severity of my wounds, I have a double allowance as an out-pensioner—yet, (he modestly remarked) it may easily be supposed that even a double allowance is not enough for a man who cannot help himself in any thing—I cannot dress myself, nor even eat or drink, but am obliged to be fed like a child; I have a poor old mother who does her best for me, or"—here the young man's voice faultered, and some tears hung on his cheek—for alas! even these he could neither wipe away nor conceal! Parched must have been the eye that would not mingle tears with those of this poor fellow, on hearing the tale of his unchangeable fate. I found too that my own utterance sympathized with his—but, showing him a shilling, and indicating, by signs, the difficulty I felt in putting him in possession of it—"here sir," said he, "and God bless you;" then, stooping with his mouth, I put it between his lips!—Ah, thought I, as I turned from this wretched object, the most hard-hearted of those who were concerned in breaking public treaties, and rejecting overtures of peace, would have relented, if with my feelings they had beheld this single victim of the millions that have been immolated, to the calculations of their fallible policy.

Valuable Real estate for sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased I NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided,

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brooke County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which is good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine prings of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.

PITTSBURGH.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28th, 1817.

REMOVAL.

The printing office of the "PITTSBURGH GAZETTE" is removed to the brick building, corner of Front and Ferry streets —a few doors below the Post-Office.

JOHN C. CALHOUN, of South Carolina, (for many years a Representative in Congress) has received from the President, the appointment of Secretary for the Department of war.

From the Charleston Courier, Nov. 10.

Indian News.—We learn by an officer of the army, who arrived in town on Sunday last, direct from Fort Hawkins, that hostilities are expected immediately to break out between our troops and the Seminole Indians. Gen. Gaines, with his force, took up the line of march from fort Montgomery, on the Alabama, to fort Scott, on the Flint River, about the 27th ult. where he was to be joined by about 600 Creek Indian warriors, who would make his army, including regulars, militia and Indians, amount to about 2,500 men. The Seminoles are said to have in the field 1,500 warriors.—Gen. Jackson and suite, it was expected, would join General Gaines at Fort Scott.

The officer above alluded to, was despatched here to procure four field pieces for the expedition, and will return immediately.

We learn that Gen. Gaines made a demand upon the Seminoles for the murderers of seven whites—they refused, and in reply, stated, that our people had killed TEN of their tribe, and demanded the BALANCE to be given up to them, as the only condition on which they would make peace. The general made no further reply, but immediately put his troops in motion, to operate against them.

The Salaries of the Public Officers of the State of Vermont are very low. The compensation of the Chief Justice of the State is but one thousand dollars per annum, and much opposition was made to a proposition before the Legislature of that State for raising it to 1200. We have not heard how the matter was ultimately decided.

Destructive Fire.—A fire broke out at Albany on the 8th instant, which consumed twenty-one buildings with the greater part of their contents.—A part of the buildings were occupied as shops and groceries, and one of them was tenanted by five families—The sufferers are most of them in indigent circumstances.

We are informed, that a large portion of the country lately ceded to the United States by the Cherokee Indians, in exchange for an equal quantity of western land, is found on investigation to be within the limits of the Creek Nation. The conflicting claims of these tribes to the disputed territory, has been settled in an amicable manner, (although at one time the controversy was likely to produce a war between them) by a Council of their respective Chiefs, chosen to discuss and decide the matter. If a suitable indemnity be not made to our government by the Cherokees, the existing Treaty with them on this subject, will doubtless be annulled.

Mr. FREDERICK GREUHM, Minister Resident and Consul General of H. M. the King of Prussia, has arrived in this city, and was, on Tuesday last, introduced to the President by the Secretary of State.—We announce this circumstance with the more pleasure as Mr. Greuhm is the first Minister that the King of Prussia has appointed to represent him in the United States. Nat. Int.

Joseph B. Hinton, Deputy Clerk C. C. of Beaufort County, N. C. has notified that as many persons in that county have got married without competent authority, that is, without taking out a license from him or Mr. Justice Smaw—he intends in future to enforce the penalty of the law (50 pounds) against all defaulters. "Touch my pocket," &c.

FROM THE NORFOLK BEACON OF YESTERDAY.

DREADFUL HURRICANE IN THE WEST INDIES.

From Capt. Williams, of the brig Louisa, from Antigua, reported under our marine head, we learn that a dreadful hurricane arose on the 21st ult. in the West Indies, the violence of which was particularly felt at St. Lucie, Barbadoes, Dominique, Martinique, and St. Vincent's, where considerable damage was sustained by the shipping and estates generally.

At St. Lucie the gale was more particularly severe.—All the vessels in that port were entirely lost; the Government House and Barracks blown down; the Governor, his Lady and Child, and most of the Staff, killed; about 200 officers and soldiers either killed or wounded, and all the Estates of the Island rendered a heap of ruins.

Some of the particulars of the damages at Barbadoes were stated in our last. Capt. W. does not furnish any thing in addition thereto.

At Dominique, nearly the whole town was inundated, and the destruction of property immense—Some few lives were lost—The Island nearly desolated—Did not learn that any vessels were lost.

At Martinique, about 50 sail of vessels were driven out to sea from St. Pierres, principally Americans, and having no ballast, provisions, or other necessaries for a voyage, have probably been lost, Only one of the above vessels had been heard of, (a French ship, which had got into St. Eustatia)—The Estates here also were greatly damaged.

At St. Vincent's, ten sail of vessels went on shore and were nearly all lost.

A schr. from Philadelphia bound to St. Barts with wine and brandy, was lost on Barbuda reef, the crew and part of the cargo saved.

It was reported at Antigua that H. M. ship Antelope of 50 guns, Rear Admiral Harvey, was lost in the gale—She sailed from Pigeon Island for Barbadoes the night before the gale.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 4.

Death of the Dey of Algiers.—On the 8th Sept. a number of Janissaries assembled round the Palace of the Dey, calling upon him to descend, as it was their intention to put him to death, his reign having been a series of disasters both by sea and land. The Dey, being obliged to comply; was taken by the soldiers to the house of the Kishna-Aga, where he was strangled, and a man named Ali Cogia, a retired merchant, declared his successor. The Ministers of the late Dey have been exiled to different cities of the Regency.

NAVAL DEPOT.

NEW-YORK, NOV. 11. On the subject of the proper site for the naval depot, the editor of the National Intelligencer expresses this opinion: "It is probable, we think, that so long delayed, the decision will now be deferred until the President shall, as it has been understood he intended, make the tour of the Chesapeake, with a view to examining the prominent points of the coast, and determining on the best means of defending the entrance of this important estuary."

St. Stephens, (Missi. Ter.) October 18.—Migration of Butterflies.—The woods between this place and Chickasawks are filled with yellow butterflies, migrating at the rate of 4 or 5 miles an hour, when on the wing, and all marching in an eastern direction.—The species appears to have been unobserved before. From tip to tip of its wings, is from 2 to 2 1-2 inches. The body when divested of its down is black. The wings are decked with spots of orange or brown: It has the general appearance of feebleness; and has probably emerged from the caiterpillar state.

The first notice taken of these butterflies, was about three weeks ago. They frequently loiter in groupes about mud holes, or stop to regale themselves on the flowers with which the woods still abound. The opposite direction of the wind has no influence on their course.

This phenomenon, not only excites the attention of the planter, as having a possible and not improbable connexion with his interest; but it affords ground for a curious speculation on the nature of that impulse, to which it is owing that these insects persist in migrating in a course, which will afford them no additional protection against approaching cold weather—nor seems to be favorable, in any one particular, to their existence.

SINGULAR MODE OF CATCHING FISH.

The following ingenious mode of taking fish is said to be practised by the Chinese. To one side of a boat a flat board, painted white, is fixed, at an angle of about 45 degrees, the edge inclining towards the water. On moonlight nights the boat is so placed that the painted board is turned to the moon, from whence the rays of light striking on the whitened surface, give to it the appearance of moving water; on which the fish being tempted to leap as on their own element, the boatmen raising with a string the board, turns the fish into the boat.—Petersburgh Intel.

ANAGRAM.

In the following French words will be found an extraordinary Anagram—"La Revolution Francoise." Take from these the word 'Veto,' known as the first prerogative of Louis XVI. opposed by the Revolutionists, and the remaining letters will form the words,—'Un Corsa la finira,' in English,—'A Corsican shall end it.'

New England Galaxy.

SINGULAR CUSTOMS.—On the quay at Nuneguen, in the United Provinces, two Ravens are kept at the public expense; they live in a roomy apartment, with a large wooden cage before it, which serves them for a balcony. These birds are feasted every day, with the choicest fowls, with as much exactness as if they were for a gentleman's table. The privileges of the city were granted originally upon the observance of this strange custom, which is continued to this day. Many other charters are held upon terms as extraordinary.—That of the city of Chester is held by the brutal entertainment of a bull bait; and the descendants of William Penn were obliged to send a bear-skin every year to the British Monarch, before America became an independent State, as an acknowledgment that the province of Pennsylvania was granted to their family by the Crown of England. It was in ancient times the custom to present to male factors, on their way to execution, a great bowl of ale, as their last refreshment. This custom last prevailed at York, which gave rise to the saying, that the saddler of Bawtry was hanged for leaving his ale. Had he stopped, as usual, which he declined, his reprieve, which was actually on the road, would have arrived time enough to have saved him.

MARRIED, On Tuesday evening last, by the Rev. F. Herron, HARMAR DENNY, Esq. to Miss ELIZABETH F O'HARA, daughter of Gen. James O'Hara, all of this city.

—— At Maysville, Ky. on the 6th instant, by the Rev. Samuel Parker, Mr. LEWIS HUTCHINSON, merchant of Maysville, to Miss ELEANOR ADAMS, daughter of Mr. James Adams of this city.

DIED, on Monday last, Mrs. Jane Morrison, consort of Mr. James Morrison, merchant of this city.

Valuable Property For Sale.

FOUR LOTS

SITUATE on the West bank of the Monongahela river, being part of that tract generally known by the name of TROY FARM.

Lot No. 2, contains 65 acres 40 perches—a good proportion of bottom and hill land well timbered; on the hill a barn and on the river a fine orchard of choice fruit-trees with a handsome meadow adjoining.

Lot No. 3, contains 57 acres, also a good proportion of hill and bottom land, rich meadow, elegant sugar camp, comfortable tenant's house and stable, with a spring of fine water convenient.

Lot No. 4, contains 57 acres 120 perches, chiefly rich bottom, all cleared, with sufficient hill land, well timbered.

Lot No. 5, contains 54 acres 110 perches, wide bottom, all under cultivation taking in a portion of hill land covered with heavy timber.

The above lots are elegantly situated, 6 miles from the city of Pittsburgh.—Any persons wishing to attend market with the produce of their gardens would find these lots well calculated for their purpose: the soil luxuriant and productive with a proper exposure, and conveniently situated close on the bank of a delightful stream, by which they could transport their 'vegetable store' to a market where it would command the highest prices.

Or any gentlemen wishing to secure pleasant and healthful retreats for their families during the sultry months of summer, would find the natural situation of these lots such as to admit of any improvement convenience might suggest or the hand of taste direct.

Terms of Sale are as follows.

One fifth of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale and the rest in five years, bearing interest, to be paid annually and to be secured by a mortgage or otherwise.—Persons wishing to purchase may obtain more particlar information on application to Mr Samuel Peebles on the premises, or Dunning M'Nair Jr. Wilkinsburgh, who has a diagram of the lots, or on Walter Forward esq. who has also a diagram, or on the subscriber in Greensburgh,

If the lots are not disposed of before the first of April next, they will then be exposed at public sale in the city of Pittsburgh,

—ALSO—

A tract of Donation land, containing 300 acres situate in Mercer county, 6 miles distant from the town of Mercer.

Heirs Wanted.

ABOUT the year 1774, George M,Candless, farmer, in Craig, near Whitehorn, in the county of Wigtown, North Britain, and Agnes Smith his wife, left Scotland and went to America; the present advertisers understand that they were afterwards resident somewhere in Pennsylvania and that they died about the year 1790, leaving children.

If any of these children or their descendants are alive, intimation is hereby made to them, that on application to the gentlemen aftermentioned, they will hear of something to their advantage, and it is requested they will lose no time in making their application.

Address Mr. JOHN BAINBRIDGE, No. 45, Bread-street, London; Mr JAMES SMITH, Wigtown, Scotland; or Messrs. JOSHUA and THOMAS GILPIN, Philadelphia.

Wigtown, 14th March, 1817.

Patent Trace Chain.

THE subscriber has invented and obtained a patent for cutting and bending links to make chain of different sizes.

Chain made of those links will have a superior advantage over the chain made in the common way as the iron is first drawn into a wire which makes each link of an equal thickness and more beautiful and strong than the common chain.

To the wholesale merchant they will be sold at 21 doll. per dozen. The links will likewise be sold to blacksmiths or others at 23 dolls. per hundrod pounds with the necessary complement of rings, each chain requires six pound of links.

Orders accompanied with the cash will be promptly attended to by the subscriber at his works adjoining Pittsburgh.

THE HARMONY INSTITUTE

And Seminary for the education of young Ladies,

WILL COMMENCE ON THE FIRST OF SEPTEMBER NEXT

The subscriber very respectfully lays before his friends and the public, the following exposition of the principles, on which this Institution will be conducted.

IN THIS SEMINARY WILL BE TAUGHT

1. ALL the branches of a useful English education, comprising reading, writing, grammar, arithmetic, history, natural history, geographar and the use of the Globes.
2. The Fine Arts, including Botanical and Landscape drawing, the Figure, Vocal and Instrumental music, Sewing and embroidering.
3. The German and French languages.

In the endeavor to cultivate the mind with Science, the amendment of the heart will be particularly regarded, as being the only sure medium of rendering intellectual attainments, useful and profitable, as well as ornamental.

To obtain an object so important to the happiness of parents, the future usefulness and respectability of their children, and the welfare of society; the highest respect will be manifested for the Holy Scriptures, of which a select portion shall be read every day in the public hall.

It is confidently believed that for the acquisition of a liberal education by young ladies—suitable characters have been provided, who will take pleasure in performing their several duties.

Mr. ECKSTEIN of Philadelphia, Professor of the Arts, and an Academician of the Pennsylvania Academy, has accepted the office of principle teacher He will be assisted by ladies of competent qualifications, who will superintend the conduct and behaviour of the pupils.

To those already acquainted with the town of Harmony, little need be said, it is situate in a healthy and agreeable country, twenty five miles from Pittsburgh. Retired from the bustle of cities and large towns, the young ladies will have the more lesure for the prosecution of their studies.

Tuition, Boarding, Washing, Books and Stationary, will be furnished for one hundred and fifty dollars per annum, payable quarterly in advance Beside quarterly examinations there will be a public one every year, of which, timely notice will be given to parents and all who take pleasure in the education of the female mind, in the principles of virtue and solid accomplishments.

Parents or Guardians who may be willing to embrace the opportunities offered by this institution, will please to apply to the subscriber.

Williamson & T. Mayfield's Patent Self-acting Shutter Fasteners.

A constant supply wholesale and retail, may be had on application to the Agents,

HUGHES & TOMKINS,

At their HARDWARE STORE No. 150, Market street Baltimore.

THE Patentees recommend (with a confidence strengthened by the approbation of many respectable Architects and others) this new, neat and uselul Fastener; and feel no hesitation in authorising their agents to assure all such purchasers (if any) as shall not find the article to answer their just expectations on applying it to use, that the money will be promptly returned on a similar return of the Fasteners.

It has decidedly an advantage over the former method of window fastening: being incomparably more elegant, affording greater security to the window when closed, and by its certainty of self-acting, securing back the shutter when pushed open or blown back by the wind, and is cheaper and better than the old method

 To those of the trade who purchase to sell again, the usual liberal disconnt will be allowed. The establishment is in its infancy, and with limited capital—therefore all orders must be accompanied with the cash.
